CLOW Gospel Overview

Today we celebrate the Fourteenth Sunday of Ordinary Time. In today's Gospel, we hear how Jesus was preaching in his hometown; however, those that were around him had a hard time believing what he said. Jesus was talking about extraordinary things – and yet the people that knew him, knew him as an ordinary person. Sometimes, there will be people in our life who doubt what we say. We may even doubt or look beyond what others say because we consider them to be “just” ordinary. We know we are all very special in the eyes of God. This week, thank God for your friends and family who do lots of special things and say a prayer of thanksgiving for them and all that they do!
